

Music Notes

The Anthem is an arrangement of hymn #296 in the Gray hymnal. This hymn urges us to lead lives of love and to help others towards that goal as well. It retains the Latin O Filii et Filiae, (O Sons and Daughters) from the hymn's earlier life as an Easter him. As we seek that elevated life, I thought the mysterious Élévation of the French composer Dupré would fit well. Falling Leaves is offered as an ode to the season. This comes from a new compilation of New Standards - jazz compositions by women - assembled by the great jazz drummer (and composer) Terri Lyne Carrington. And we close with another seasonal offering - William Bolcom's wonderfully evocative Graceful Ghost Rag.

Music Notes

The Anthem is an arrangement of hymn #296 in the Gray hymnal. This hymn urges us to lead lives of love and to help others towards that goal as well. It retains the Latin O Filii et Filiae, (O Sons and Daughters) from the hymn's earlier life as an Easter him. As we seek that elevated life, I thought the mysterious Élévation of the French composer Dupré would fit well. Falling Leaves is offered as an ode to the season. This comes from a new compilation of New Standards - jazz compositions by women - assembled by the great jazz drummer (and composer) Terri Lyne Carrington. And we close with another seasonal offering - William Bolcom's wonderfully evocative Graceful Ghost Rag.